Project Description

Under the commission from Vinnytsia municipality (utility company "Spatial Development Agency"), we undertook cross-disciplinary research of the river shore with a focus on ecological and social components. The document was developed as part of the preliminary project phase of the urban design concept for the area development. One of the challenges was to combine top-down and bottom-up planning processes. To minimize this gap, we integrated plans from city strategic and planning documents (such as the Concept of integrated development of the city of Vinnytsia 2030). Moreover, we revealed existing bottom-up activities and connected them to long-term plans. Within this research, we combine different instruments, mostly qualitative, mapping, walking-interview, strollology, interview with experts, working groups with stakeholders, urban acupuncture.
